

WILMOT VINDICATED BY REPORT OF JURY

Sensational Case Investigated and No Indictment Returned--Nineteen Cases Investigated--Nine True Bills Returned by Jury.

No indictment was returned by the grand jury against James Wilmot, of Clowville, who has been held at the county jail for the past several weeks pending an investigation of alleged illicit relations with his 14-year-old step-daughter. It is probable that he will be released from the county jail this morning. Whether or not the juvenile court will pursue the case further is not known although it is thought probable that nothing more will be done.

Nine True Bills.

Finding nine true bills and ignoring ten other cases which were investigated, the grand jury reported to Judge Glenn Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock after being in session two days. The jurors were not discharged by Judge Glenn who instructed them that they might be called upon at any time by the sheriff or clerk of courts in case something turns up which demands an investigation. However, if there is nothing of this kind they will be automatically discharged.

Nothing Sensational.

Other than the Wilmot case, it is understood that nothing of a sensational nature was investigated. The report of the grand jury shows that none of those against whom indictments were returned, are now in custody and none of the indictments can be made public until arrests are made.

Sheriff Phairon Tuesday night had made no arrests as a result of the work of the grand jury but it is expected that there will be developments along this line some time today.

Expect to Start Work on New Baptist Church Soon

If the plans of the trustees and building committee of the First Baptist church, can be carried out, the work on the new church, which has been under consideration for some time, will be started the first of May.

At the meeting of the trustees and committee held Tuesday evening, it was unanimously decided to proceed with the work at once. However before any final decision can be made the congregation, as a whole, will be permitted to vote on this vote will be taken at the mid-week prayer service at the church tonight.

The Present Plans.

The present plans are to begin the raising of the old church, on Chestnut street, by May 1, and as soon as this is completed to begin the erection of the new building. The material in the old church will be used wherever possible in the new building, which is to be erected on the same site. Where the congregation will worship while the building is in progress, has not been decided.

Funeral Services for Mrs.

Rebecca Hooker Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Rebecca J. Hooker will be conducted Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, at the home in Roscoe, Rev. J. S. Stamm, pastor of the Roscoe M. E. church, will conduct the services and interment will be made in the Roscoe cemetery.

Mrs. Hooker's death followed an extended illness from bronchitis, the end coming at about 1 o'clock Tuesday morning. Rebecca J. Hutchins was born at Lancaster, Ohio, August 25, 1835. She was united in marriage to Major E. T. Hooker, also of Lancaster, in 1865. After the death of her husband, a few years after their marriage, she came, with her mother and family, to Roscoe, where she continued to make her home until her death.

It is doubtful if there was a better known woman in the county than Mrs. Hooker. She was one of the pioneer business women of the community and one of the first to make the departure from what was then considered a woman's sphere and to take up work which until then had been delegated to men. For nineteen years she was postmistress of the village and after voluntarily giving up

Germany Will

Prohibit The

Sale of Schnaps

Berlin, April 13.—It has been learned from an authoritative source today that the imperial government will shortly issue a decree prohibiting the sale of distilled liquors in saloons.

"Schnaps," the traditional drink of the German working man is to be unobtainable until the war is ended. The decree which is to enforce this proposed sweeping measure is being worked out now. The order is not to be temperance measure, however, but is made necessary to conserve the supply of alcohol.

Fearing a possible shortage of potatoes, from which product most of the spirits are distilled in Germany, the government proposes to make the new order "work both ways." No opposition is looked for against the order when it comes up for the sanction of the reichstag at its next session.

Kill a Hawk;

Get a Dollar

Section 2. Any person applying for such bounty shall take each hawk to the clerk of the township in which such hawk was killed. Such clerk shall issue and deliver to the applicant a certificate stating the bounty to which the applicant is entitled and shall at once destroy all such hawks, but such certificates shall not be issued unless there is a fund in the township treasury out of which such bounty may be paid.

Section 3. Such fund shall be set apart out of the general fund of the township by the appropriation therefor by the township trustees, which fund, in no year shall exceed the sum of two hundred dollars.

Defendant Gets Decree

On the grounds of gross neglect of duty, the defendant was granted a divorce Tuesday in probate court in the case of Grace Johnson vs. Brooks Johnson. They were married April 4, 1909, and have two children. The court directs that the children be given into the exclusive control of the Tascara was county children's home and that the defendant pay $8 per month to the court for their support. The costs of the case are assessed against the defendant.

Wilson Is Released

Arthur Wilson, who was arrested for the alleged beating of a board bill, was released from the city prison Tuesday so that he might have a chance to secure work. If not successful he is to return to the prison.

Officers Find Stolen Loot Hidden On Island In Muskingum River

Howard Bryant, 22, and Arthur Lillibridge, 19, were arrested Tuesday afternoon at their homes in Conesville, by local police on warrants charging the theft of articles from stores in Conesville during the past weeks. Several of the articles were found concealed on an island at the mouth of Wills creek about a mile below the village.

Different Stores.

Some of the articles were taken from the Wheeler store when it was burglarized and the other articles are thought to have been taken by shoplifting methods. Clyde Wheeler, acting upon information furnished by a lad, came to the police station and filed charges against the boys Tuesday at noon. Chief Mapel and Lieutenant Hankins accompanied him to Conesville in his auto. They arrested the young men and then searched the island.

Hidden On Island.

Wading across the river, they found a crosscut saw, a pair of gum boots and a lot of lumber buried on the island. Most of the articles were recognized as having been taken from the Conesville stores.

The young men were brought to Coshocton and lodged in the city prison to await a hearing before Mayor Staats. As the case now stands they will be arraigned on a charge of petit larceny although the charge may be changed to one of burglary.

City Has Bread Famine After Bakery Burns

Chester, Pa., April 13.—Oglesby's bakery, the largest in this section, occupying a four-story brick building, was destroyed by fire tonight, Samuel J. Oglesby, owner of the building and head of the firm, says the loss on the building will reach $50,000, which, with the machinery and fixtures, will total a loss approximately $75,000.

The fire started in the rear, and a member of the firm suspects incendiaryism. The flames ate their way through the upper floors, making the work of the firemen hazardous.

The fourth floor of the building is occupied by McGee's Dancing Academy, and had just been re-furnished. His loss will exceed $5000.

The building was put up about twenty years ago by the Moyamensing Hook and Ladder Company, which was compelled to sell the property. After being used by several different concerns, the Oglesbys got possession about seven years ago. The full supply of bread baked for tomorrow's delivery. This was burned up, and hundreds of Chester families will be short.

Tavener Discloses the Alleged Fraud of Trusts

Washington, D. C., April 10.—Representative Clyde H. Tavener, of Illinois has recently made startling disclosures concerning the armor trust that, for years, has been fleecing the American taxpayers through extortionate prices on all kinds of armament.

He declares that congress and the war and navy departments are powerless to protect the people as the armor trust, through the simple expedient of refusing to bid against itself, is unable to name and get its own price on every product which enters into the government's military equipment. He said in part:

No Ammunition

I sat recently in the House of Representatives and heard the Hon. Augustus Gardner, of Massachusetts, make the statement upon his responsibility as a Member of the American Congress that:

"If war were to break out today, it would be found that our coast defense have not sufficient ammunition for an hour's fight!"

Whether or not Mr. Gardner's statement is correct, I cannot say, because I do not know; but this I do know, that we do not have the ammunition and armament that we have paid for and should have in return for the countless millions of dollars of the American people's money that have been expended from the Public Treasury.

I mean to say that those Army and Navy officers who do the purchasing of war munitions and who are paid a salary by the people and are trusted by the people to see that the Government receives a dollar's worth of material for every dollar expended, have permitted a ring of ammunition manufacturers to outrageously overcharge Uncle Sam for armor, guns, powder, and munitions in general.

For instance, the War Department in 1913 purchased seven thousand 4.7-inch sharpshooters from the ammunition ring, paying $25.26 each therefore. At the same time precisely the same sharpshooters were being manufactured in the Government-owned Frankfort Arsenal for $15.45, all overhead charges included.

A Fat Graft

Mr. Average Citizen, are you willing that the public officials at the War Department who are spending your money should pay $25.26 for an article that they could have manufactured in Government plants for $15.45?

This instance is not the exception; it is the rule. The Army and Navy officers in 20 years have purchased $175,000,000 worth of armor, armament, and munitions from four firms which have a monopoly in this country on the manufacture of such supplies and have paid this grasping war trust from 20 to 60 per cent more than the same articles could have been manufactured for in Government plants.

As the result of frequently repeated statements similar to that made by Mr. Gardner, the average citizen is at last beginning to ask: "What becomes of the $250,000,000 that is being spent annually on our Army and Navy? Who, pray, is getting the money?"

And it is time the people are beginning to show anxiety, because their money has been squandered like water, and unless Mr. Average Citizen wakes up and removes the wool from his eyes it is going to continue to be squandered.

Congress Helpless

The American people have never been let into the secret of who the profit makers are in the traffic of war and preparation for war in this country, and the methods by which they help themselves at the public trough. I will go further and venture the assertion that not 30 Members of Congress know the identity of the select ring of patriots for profit into whose pockets the millions of the masses are pouring, which gentlemen have a water-tight monopoly in this country on the traffic of war trading and who have drawn down every penny of $50,000,000 in excessive and extortionate profits from the Government by direct virtue of their influential friends in the Army, the Navy, and in Congress.

Least any gentlemen in high places should resent the implication of being friends of the War Trust, I hasten at the outset to concede their contentions that they are patriots, yes, all of them.

Congress can investigate the war trust until it is black in the face, and it will get nowhere. The Secretary of the Navy can try as he will to get some one to underbid the armor ring, either in this country or abroad, and he will not be able to escape the net; he has tried and has not been able to escape it.

Armor, armament, and ammunition contractors are not big enough fools to cut each other's throats. Their business is to supply for a gigantic profit the where withal for the peoples of the earth to enjoy a monopoly of throat cutting, and the pulling of limb from limb. As for themselves, they do not indulge in price-cutting warfare. Their game is purely profit making.

They start the ball rolling by making nations distrustful of one another, and then in inducing them to overprepare for war. Does anyone doubt that if the European nations had not been so overprepared for war they would have been so willing to have entered into it?

Committee to Meet Tonight

A meeting of the building committee and the trustees of the First Baptist church, is called for this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church.

VALUE OF 1914 FARM CROPS

All of the gold ever produced in the United States, according to a recent estimation of the U. S. Geological Survey is equal in value to only twice the farm value of the 1914 corn crop. The value of the golden grain for 1914 is greater than the value of all the silver ever produced in the United States. In fact the value of the farm products of the United States for 1914 is equal to more than one-half the value of all the gold and silver ever produced in this country.

Minister Is Under Charges

New York, April 10.—The Rev. Dr. Charles Parkhurst, of Madison Square Presbyterian Church, who has brought others to trial in various ways and places, is to be presented for trial next Monday. The case against him has been passed by the moderator's council of the New York presbytery and it will be heard in that body.

A few days ago a copy of a letter written by Doctor Parkhurst and addressed to persons in California, was received in this city and will be put into the evidence.

COURT HOUSE NEWS

The charge is conduct unbecoming a Christian minister. The copy of the letter had been preceded by formal charges from California. In a recent California political campaign, in which liquor interests played a live part, a letter was published by the saloon leaders of that state signed by Doctor Parkhurst. This letter, the New York presbytery now has. It refuses to make the contents public until it is presented in the presbytery.

It is known that it takes the view that prohibition does not always prohibit, and it is believed that it advocates a fight on whiskey and champagne, if a fight must be made at all; and when that is won to the extent of being supported by public opinion, to attack next beer and wines.

It is charged in California that the Parkhurst letter turned the scales against the temperance people. The complaint was received by the New York Presbytery from the Presbytery of Oakland. If the trial be ordered, it was said to be unlikely that it would proceed on Monday, but time would be allowed for counsel.

Doctor Parkhurst refused today to discuss the case.

PLANT SWEET PEAS NOW

If you have not already planted your sweet peas you should do so as soon as the soil can be worked. The soil should be well drained and made fertile by well rotted stable manure. The location should be such that the peas will receive an abundance of sunlight and, if possible, be protected from strong winds.

For sowing the seed, dig a small trench or furrow, about 4 or 5 inches deep, smooth the surface of the soil in the bottom of this trench and sow the seed evenly, using about one ounce of seed to fifteen or eighteen feet of the row. Then cover with two inches of soil. When the seedlings are four or five inches high, thin out so that the plants will remain about six inches apart in the row.

Advertising That Counts

The slogan of the retail tradesman used to be: "It pays to advertise." The modern tradesman has changed that maxim to one something like this: "The right kind of advertising pays."

The Central Hardware Co. Saturday celebrated the first anniversary of its establishment. It put on a sale of useful articles, eighteen in number, and advertised the event generously in the local papers.

There were no frills in the ads. The eighteen articles were each briefly described and the price set forth in bold figures. The prices ranged from ten cents to $2 and the cut in price was genuine and generous.

The public did not rest. G. S. Brushwood, a member of the firm, stated Monday to The Tribune advertising solicitor that the house was cleaned out on every special advertised. "Not an article in the sale that bore a special price was left," said he, "and no one knows how many more we could have sold."

"In the year's time we have been running," he continued, "we have not had as good a day as Saturday was, and if we hadn't been convinced of it before, we know now that right kind of advertising pays."

IN MAYOR'S COURT.

Wesley Cox was arrested for intoxication Monday.

TO FILE CROSS-SUITS.

Allege Conspiracy in Furnishing German Cruisers With Provisions.

New York, April 13.—Two libels will be filed in the United States court in the near future alleging specific acts in a conspiracy to supply the recently active German cruisers with coal, provisions and fresh water taken on at American ports. The two suits, it is understood, will be in answer to two libels filed last week by the New York and Bermuda Steamship company against Johannes Ludwig Mowinckel (the Neptune company), a ship owner of Bergen, Norway, alleging breach of contract and charter and asking damages amounting to $250,000 in the cases of two vessels.

The answering suits, which will also name officers of one of the large German steamship corporations having vessels now idle in Hoboken because of the war, will allege in defense of the breaching of the contract that the captains of the two vessels chartered broke the contracts because the German steamship corporation's agents wanted the skippers to supply a German cruiser off the Cape Verde Islands in violation of the acts of congress and of the neutrality regulations.

The two vessels involved are the Norwegian freighters Neos and Mo-vinckel. When the federal grand jury learned its inquiry into the Hamburg-American line's activities in coaling and provisioning German warships both these ships were named in a list of vessels chartered by the company for its own purposes. It was said at the time that these two ships and the others named in the list had been sub-chartered through other steamship lines. Johannes Ludwig Mowinckel, owner of both ships, is the defendant in the admiralty damage suits already filed and it will be in his interest that the cross-suits will be instituted.

KAISER AT FRONT IN CARPATHIANS

Personally Directs Offensive of Austro-German Armies.

Petrograd, April 13.—Emperor Willam is personally directing operations of the Austro-German armies in the Carpathians, according to a semi-official statement issued here. To his presence is attributed the sudden offensive of the Teutonic troops in the Stry region. An order from him is said to have been issued to cut through the Russians left wing and to force an abandonment of the attacks being made upon the Austro-German positions at Usok Pass.

The Bourse Gazette's correspondent at Lemberg telegraphs that the Austrians, previously reported on the verge of complete retreat, have launched fierce attacks upon the Russians along the Stry, Opor and Swica rivers. To oppose these a rearrangement of the Russian forces has been found necessary. Reinforcements are being rushed to this region, where the Austrians captured Hill No. 992, a command strategic position, by a risky attack.

General Alexander Linsbagen of the German army, with 280,000 soldiers, is conducting the Stry region operations, having superseded the Austrian commander there. He has under his control five armies.

Simultaneously, with the offensive in the Stry region of Galicia, the Germans in northern Poland have reopened their attacks along the Narew-Vistula front, a line shelling Ossowice and trying to pierce the Russian lines at Jedwabno.

CLEMENCY RECOMMENDED.

Youths Who Carried Bombs in St.
Patrick's Cathedral Found Guilty.

New York, April 13.—Frank Abarno and Carmine Carbone were found guilty by a jury on the charge of having made and placed a bomb in St.
Patrick's cathedral here March 2. The jury recommended clemency for both men. Justice Nott announced that he would impose sentence on the two men and hear an motion regarding the case on April 14. The prisoners were then remanded to the Tombs.

Ten minutes before the verdict was given the jury returned to the courtroom for information as to the libel of a police officer who was an alleged accomplice in the commission of a crime. The question concerned the position of Amelia Polignani, the young detective who had been associated with Carbone and Abarno until their arrest, posing as an anarchist Counsel for the defendants had characterized the case as a frame-up by the police, stating that Polignani had admitted purchasing some of the explosives used in the bombs.

Justice Nott told the jury that the law does not regard as guilty a police officer who in the performance of his duty, aids in the commission of a crime, because he does not have the guilty conscience necessary to make a crime.

RENEW FIGHT IN FLANDERS

French Failure Near St. Mihiel Disappoints British.

London, April 13.—Severe fighting has been resumed near the sea coast in Flanders, according to Amsterdam dispatches with the Belgians again attempting to expel the Germans from the Grachten, on the western bank of the Yser. Hand-to-hand combats in the streets of Dri Grachten and the villages to the southward are increasing in violence.

British aviators, the Amsterdam dispatches said, have executed another raid into Belgian territory held by the Germans. They have dropped bombs along the railway line leading from Brussels to Antwerp, returning safely along the coast. The extent of the damage done by the bombardment is not known.

Admission by the French war office that the Germans are now on the offensive in the Rhine-St. Mihiel conflict in the Meuse region brought disappointment to English parliamentary circles.
Despite a reassuring statement from Paris that the French forces were being reformed for another attack, the official French statement was taken to mean that the new French offensive has failed.

BRITISH OFFICERS TO SUFFER

Germans to Make Reprisals For Treatment of Submarine Prisoners.

London, April 13.—The German government has decided to make reprisals against British officer prisoners for the treatment that is being accorded the prisoners of German submarine boats in England. For each prisoner of a submarine crew and for duration of his harsh treatment, which it is contended is contrary to international law, it has been resolved by Germany to treat likewise a British officer without distinction of person.
Accordingly thirty-nine British officers were imprisoned in the military detention barracks.

AIRSHIPS TO RAID ENGLAND.

Germans Assemble 550 Flyers For Attack in June.

Paris, April 13.—Five hundred and fifty Zeppelins and aeroplanes have been assembled by the Germans for a raid over England in June.

eler, who has returned from Germany, saying that everybody there is predicting the greatest air raid over England in June, in which 150 Zeppelins and 400 aeroplanes, all fitted with aluminum motors, will take part.

CASSIDY LOCATED.

Friends Say Former Congressman
Will Soon Return to Cleveland.

Cleveland, April 13.—Former Congressman James H. Cassidy, removed from three federal receiverships by Judges Clark and Sater, and whose accounts with the Cleveland-Pittsburgh Coal company, the largest of the receiverships, shows a discrepancy of over $16,000, has been located. This positive information reached friends and business associates in Cleveland.
As soon as Cassidy can be assured that restitution of the amounts short in his accounts with the coal company will result in the dropping of any contemplated criminal action, friends say he is ready to come back to Cleveland.

Berlin, April 13.—An official report asphyxiating the troops in whose neighborhood it falls.

THEATRES

THE CHIMES OF NORMANDY
Planquette's comic opera, the "Chimes of Normandy," with eighty people in the cast and a special orchestra of eighteen people, will appear at The Sixth Street Theatre on Monday evening, April 19, for one performance only.

In the revival of this most charming opera great care has been taken in the selection of the cast, the principals being especially adapted for their respective parts.

The opera is sung in three acts, there being fifteen song numbers in the first act, nine in the second and six in the third. There are several pretty love duets throughout the opera and the romantic story will long be remembered by all who attend.

This will possibly be the last chance to witness a comic opera here this season.

AT PASTIME.

Big crowds attended the vaudeville and pictures at the Pastime last night. Three acts of vaudeville were presented including the performing dogs, and the audience seemed much pleased over the tricks by the eight little pups. New pictures will be shown to-day in connection with the vaudeville acts.

REPLY TO GERMAN NOTE

To Be Given Most Careful Attention by Administration.

Washington, April 13.—The activities of the German embassy are now regarded as constituting one of the most serious issues confronting the administration in connection with the war in Europe. That some action may be taken soon by this government with a view to effecting an abandonment of the course pursued by the embassy since the war began was indicated here.

The latest and most objectionable note from the embassy, the memorandum charging the United States government with acting contrary to the true spirit of neutrality in permitting the exportation of arms to the allies, is regarded in official quarters as the culminating incident of a series of communications, statements and other activities considered questionable, if not actually improper and looking in the respect due this government. It is likely to be made the occasion of more vigorous action with reference to the German activities than the administration has heretofore seen fit to take.

There is no desire upon the part of the administration to raise any disagreeable issue with the German government. Consequently the reply to the embassy memorandum is being given the most careful consideration at the state department and at the White House. It is not doubted that the Berlin government was not well aware of the purport of the memorandum sent to the state department by Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and that his communication represents the views of his government. Hence, this communication could not in all probability be made an issue without involving the United States with the German government. As there are those who believe that a break with the United States is desired the disposition in official quarters is all the stronger in favor of mandating nothing which will furnish a basis of quarrel. It is held, however, that the activities of the embassy outside its communications with the state department might be made the basis of action by this government which would confine the issue to the embassy alone and not involve Washington with Berlin, and still have the effect of bringing to an end the present objectionable situation.

Three Hundred Japs Drowned.

Federal Season Opens Sunday

Zanesville Armcos Will Face The Federals for Curtain Raiser—Brice Has Schedule Filled With Best Teams in State—Improve Diamond.

With one of the strongest amateur aggregations that ever represented Coshocton, the Federal team's season will officially open at the Red Sea diamond next Sunday afternoon. The Zanesville Armcos, who displayed their class several times last summer on local diamonds, will be pitted against the Federals for the curtain raiser. Manager Brice, of the Federals, received word from the Armcos management Tuesday, that the strongest aggregation possible to assemble in Zanesville, would be in the game next Sunday.

Some New Fans

Just who will be in the Federal lineup has not yet been announced by Manager Brice but it is understood that there will be some new faces and incidentally some decided improvements.

The Red Sea diamond, which proved so popular with the fans last summer, will again be crowded each Sunday according to all indications. A number of changes and improvements are to be made including a driveway for autos. A road will be graded from Fifteenth street to the diamond for this purpose. The steps at Ninth street will also be hanged and improved.

Schedule Filled

Manager Brice has filled his schedule completely until September 1. Some of the best teams in the state including the Springfield aggregation which has for a number of years grabbed the amateur state championship, Columbus, Steubenville, Massillon, Canton and New Philadelphia, are on the schedule.

Although an umpire for the season has not been secured, Dan Lewis has signified his willingness to officiate at the opening game.

Mr. Rockefeller testified, through deposition, that his legal residence is in New York. Judge John H. Clark announced his decision would be given in two weeks.

Lime Treatment in Tuberculosis

In the May 25, 1912, issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association appeared this statement concerning calcium (lime) medication in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption): "Under the systematic, continued and persistent regime of calcium administration, Van Gieson has seen a number of his patients improve, undergo an excretion or partial consolidation in the lung, which then resolving would appear to contribute to the walling off and closing of the lesions. Hand in hand with this course of events, the sputum clears up of tubercle bacilli, which finally disappear, and the patients are discharged with healed pulmonary tuberculosis."

Ethical medical journals seldom speak so positively about a remedial agent yet this is the case with calcium. It is safe to try. If your cough is out of it, ask him to order, or send direct to the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia. Sold By Wimmer-Arnold Drug Co., Coshocton, O.

NO MORE ACHING LAME BACKS!

When it's hard to straighten up quickly and there's a "crick-in-your-back" and every joint and muscle in your body aches and you have that "don't care" feeling, ask your druggist for a bottle of Hoff's German Liniment. This famous, stainless, greaseless, refreshing-odor liniment is made from the same formula as the doctors use with such success in Germany. It is pure and white as snow and it won't soil the finest clothes.

For 18 years Hoff's German Liniment has been the unequalled remedy for Rheumatism, Lame Back, Neuralgia, Sore Throat, Cold on the Lungs, Cold in the Head, Brains, Sprains, Aching Joints, Sore Feet, Corns, Bunions, etc. It can be taken internally for Colds, Coughs, Croup, etc. It is powerful and penetrating. Fine for children. Nothing like it in existence for stopping pain. Made from white emulsion of camphor cream with other pure, harmless, effective ingredients. Everyone knows the value of camphor for relieving pain, but its great drawback is that it leaves the pores open. Hoff's German Liniment keeps the pores closed—keeps colds out.

Sold in handy bottles by all druggists—a quarter pint for a quarter; large family size, 50c. Results absolutely guaranteed, or druggist is authorized to return your money without argument. Avoid disappointment by not taking "something just as good."

Best Laxative For Children

When your baby is cross and fretful instead of the happy, laughing little dear you are accustomed to, in all probability the digestion has become drugged and the bowels need attention. Give it a mild laxative, dispel the irritability and bring back the happy content of babyhood.

The very best laxative for children is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, because it contains no opiate or narcotic drugs, is pleasant tasting and acts gently, but surely, without griping or other distress. Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

To Put On Flesh and Increase Weight

A Physician's Advice.

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump, chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all bosh to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all.

Thin folks stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat-producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week. Sargol is sold by Winner-Arnold Drug Co. and other good druggists everywhere on a positive guarantee of weight increase or money back.

The next meeting will be held at the church, the first Saturday in May with Mrs. May Allen as leader.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

A "Stunt" party was the enjoyable feature of club night, participated in by the members of the Young Woman's Christian club, in their quarters in Central High school building, Tuesday evening.

The entertainment as planned by the house and social committee proved a most thorough success and the peaks of laughter which rang through the building signified the pleasure the guests were deriving from the various "Stunts". The young women were divided into groups of ten, each with a family name. There were the Doolittle family, the Newell family, the Ford family, the Good family, the Maloney family and a dozen others. Each group performed a "stunt," in keeping with their family characteristics. The stunts were cleverly planned and great ingenuity demonstrated in their performance.

CAPITAL AND TRADE

For many years England, Germany, France and Belgium have poured into other lands free capital amounting to $1,500,000,000 a year. This does not represent trade or commerce, but is over and above what these countries have paid for imports. It is foreign investment, the substance of the growth of the lands into which it has gone.

Now the world of trade, says World's Work, moves as capital moves and in no other way. Holland has also provided her share. Russia, this country, South America and the rest have been the beneficiaries. Great Britain's investments in one year, as given by the London Statist, have been $350,000,000 for British colonies and $853,000,000 for thirty-two other countries. It is not working capital, which is represented by money that lies in banks and moves crops, but money that goes to stay and win or lose in the long run as investment. Britain's total foreign investments in this way in 1909 were $13,465,000,000, and France's $8,000,000,000. Germany had about $5,000,000,000 so invested in 1913. With Belgium, these foreign investments amount today to about $30,000,000,000.

Suppose these countries to be all prostrate after the present war, and not for many years able to answer the demand of the new or borrowing countries for free capital, where is such capital to come from? Sir George Paish says that the investment of about $12,000,000,000 of British capital has occurred simultaneously with the growth of the British trade and prosperity, especially in railroads, the building of which has developed new lands, increased production and caused a stream of wealth to flow back to Britain. Thus, such investment has first provided credit which has given the power to buy goods for the development of the country and enabled the people to increase their products so that they have paid British interest and profits.

When Great Britain supplied the money to build the Great Northern road she provided thousands of people with the power to make money. The more they made, the more goods they bought besides paying their interest and in time their principal. Brazil is almost completely financed in Europe. In the last fiscal year we bought $101,000,000 worth of goods of Brazil and sold her $30,000,000 worth. We thus owed her $70,000,000. We paid it in products. But we paid it to Europe.

Brazilian ships brought us her goods, loaded her ships with our goods, sailed to Europe where she sold them to pay her obligations there, and loaded again with European manufactures (the most profitable of all merchandising commerce) and sailed for home. So Europe profited by our balance owed to Brazil. Great Britain has $3,376,495,837 invested in South America on which her yearly return in interest and dividends is $160,000,000. She has $3,000,000,000 invested in the railroads of the United States—about 15 per cent. of our total bond and stock capitalization. Europe holds about $4 out of every $100 of our approximate total value of $140,000,000,000.

What will happen when this great golden stream lessens or ceases after this war? We have not the funds to take its place. We are still a borrowing nation. Not until a country is saturated with capital can it send out investment capital to the world. We owed about $40,000,000 to Europe when the war broke out. In the next eighteen months we shall have to pay about $750,000,000 of similar debts which will mature. Of this about $150,000,000 is owing to the countries of Europe at war.

We have been used to borrow about $300,000,000 a year from the four chief European countries. We can not well get that in the next few years. So we shall have to finance ourselves to a greater degree than we have ever done. The article concludes that "in our trade extension we must make goods and learn selling methods that will enable us to progress without the help that we have had."

It may be true, as anti-suffragists say, that women can exert as much influence in politics without the ballot as she could with it, but the fact remains that not a congressman from an equal suffrage state voted against the national child labor bill at the last session.

Wealthy Americans abroad are beginning to feel the pinch of abnormal war taxes. Maybe some of our expatriated patriots will come to the conclusion that the little old U. S. A. is a good enough place to live after all.

SYMPTOMS

By Walt Mason

A man can read an almanac, and learn that he is sick; then he will groan about his back, in which he's found a creak. Before he read that book of dolo, he never knew a smart; he was a hale and healthy soul, with sunshine in his heart. But now he hangs about his coop, his head bent to his knees; he has the symptoms of the croup, of hoof and mouth disease. A man as sound as Adam's ox, when "symptoms" get his goat, will purchase nostrums by the box, and send them down his throat. Of grievous aches and pains he'll whine, as sunny days go by, and go into a slow decline, and of his symptoms die. The "symptoms" fiend will cough three times, and to the drugstore skip, and blow for dope his hard-earned sinews, and say, "I have the grip!" And when his cough has pulled its freight, "I still am sick," says he; "my present symptoms indicate I have the housemaid's knee!" Our cares are much like pains and aches—just symptoms, nothing more. We wear away our little lives, and weep and walk the floor, and rend our hearts and heat our wives for shadows, nothing more.

MEXICAN GENERAL

Carranzista Leader Said to Have Won Victory Over Villa's Forces.

GENERAL OBREGON

HUERTA WATCHED.

Carranzistas Claim He Expects to Start Revolt in Yucatan.

New York, April 13.—General Victoriano Huerta began to attend to the business which brought the former president of Mexico to New York, and which he described as "personal and family."

The general occupies one of the most expensive suites of the Hotel Ansonia.

Despite Huerta's assurances on landing that he would do nothing while here to violate the neutrality of the United States, it was reported in Mexican circles that important conferences would be held here at once to determine whether the time was ripe for Huerta to interfere in Mexico. His old battleships to his support and attempt to put down the factions contending for the control of that country. It was said that agents of the federal government here were keeping a close watch upon his movements.

A statement given out by Francisco Elias, the consul general representing the Carranza faction here, said that Huerta's destination is Yucatan, "where he expects to inaugurate a revolution against Carranza."

General Huerta turned over to the police a mysterious box, which was supposed to contain candy and which was handed to him as he landed. He did not open it, but notified the hotel management. At the police station the box was opened by an expert in explosives and was found to contain rambling manuscript, apparently written by some irresponsible person.

RAIDER LEAKING BADLY.

Will Take Three Weeks to Repair Kron Prinz Wilhelm.

Newport News, Va., April 13.—Formal request from Commander Taierfelder of the German converted cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm for time to repair his vessel in order to make her seaworthy is awaited by the federal authorities here.

A preliminary survey by experts from the shipbuilding company here disclosed that at least three weeks will be required to make the Wilhelm seaworthy. The ship was found to be leaking badly, and her boilers in bad condition. Her pumps were working constantly and the tide water from her pipes was said to be unusually heavy. The leaks were caused by loosening of her plates as a result of frequent conking at sea and ramming with submarines when shots failed to sink them.

The fact that the WPHM will require considerable attention before she can be made seaworthy, it was believed, may eventually cause her to be interned. Commander Taierfelder, however, insists that he is anxious to have his ship repaired as quickly as possible in order that he may renew his war against raiding expeditions.

Rear Admiral Beatty, commandant of the Norfolk navy yard under instructions from Secretary Daniels, has given permission for certain of the Prinz Bluel Friedrich's officers to visit Richmond and Petersburg, Va. The admiral also has been authorized to use his discretion in permitting the officers to go wherever they wish.

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Ohio State University

THE "FARM DOCTOR"

Is your farm sick? Is there anything the matter with your soil, crops, or livestock? Does your farm as a business plant pay a dividend? If not, call in the "farm doctor." Who is he? Perhaps there is none in your county, but many counties have such an official. He is generally known as the county agent, farm advisor, or county agriculturist. The county agriculturist should have both a scientific agricultural training and considerable practical farm experience. He should not only be able to tell what treatment an unproductive soil, tree, or cow needs, but he should be able to plow, spray, prune, feed, and milk. Before recommending a policy to a farmer he applies the test of "will it pay." The county agriculturist aids the farmers in marketing their products, in buying their supplies, and in doing business with one another. He is the farmers' counselor and advisor and is on the job 8 hours in the forenoon and 8 hours in the afternoon. Each county may, be conforming to certain requirements, avail themselves of state and national appropriations for securing the services of a county agriculturist.

PEACE FLAG AFLOAT.

Fifty Women Delegates Leave For Conference at The Hague.

New York, April 13.—Under a new flag the fifty women delegates to The Hague international conference sailed at noon today for Rotterdam on the steamship Noordam of the Holland-American line. The flag was entirely the invention of the peace delegates themselves, and if a submarine or destroyer approaches the Noordam on her trip over, it will see a snow white pennant with one word, "Peace," spelled out in blue letters across its surface.

"It may seem rather an incautious proceeding with the present state of affairs on the high seas," said Miss Jane Addams, one of the delegates. "We can not guess what a foreign submarine will do at the sight of a new flag to attack, but we are secure in our conviction to do what we can for peace, and in view of what the women of Europe are doing, we consider this very little."

The Maid of the Forest

A Romance of St. Clair's Defeat

By Randall Parrish

Illustrated by D. J. Levin

Copyright, 1914, by A. C. McClure & Co.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—Joseph Hayward, an engineer in the United States army on his way to Fort Harmer, meets Simon Girty, a renegade whose name has been connected with a number of atrocities, also needed for Fort Harmer with a message from the British general, Hamilton. Hayward guides him to the fort and protects him from a number of scouts who tried to kill him.

CHAPTER II—At General Harmer's headquarters Hayward meets Rene, a Frenchman who professes to be a scout, but whose name is a recollection of ever having seen her before.

CHAPTER III—Hayward volunteers to carry a message for Harmer to Sandusky where Hamilton is stationed. The north-west Indian tribes are ready for war and are waiting for the signal to attack. Hayward is demanded the return of Wap-tah, a religious teacher whom they believe to be a prisoner. Hayward's mission is to assure the Wyandots that the man is not held by the soldiers. Harmer is forced to release the necessity of releasing Hamilton before Girty.

CHAPTER IV—Rene asks Hayward to accompany him. She tells him that she is a quarter-blood Wyandot and is a missionary among the Indians. She has been in search of her father, a white man, whom she has seen Hayward before, but in a British uniform. Hayward starts for the north and a private soldier, named Brady, and a private soldier, named Brady, and a private soldier, named Brady.

CHAPTER V—They come on the trail of a war party and, to escape from the Indians, take shelter in a cave on an island. Hayward finds a murdered man in the hut.

CHAPTER VI—It proves to be Rene, a Frenchman, who is called by the Wyandots "white chief." Rene appears and Hayward is puzzled by his insistence that they have met before.

CHAPTER VII—Rene recognizes the murdered man as his father, who was slain among the Indians as Wap-tah.

CHAPTER VIII—She tells Hayward her father was killed among the Indians, converting them to Christianity.

CHAPTER IX—Brady reports seeing a head of marauding Indians in the vicinity and with them Simon Girty. Brady's evidence convinces the girl that there is a British officer in the name of Hayward who resembles the American.

CHAPTER X—Finding escape from the island out of the hands of the Indians, they prepare to resist an attack from the Indians.

CHAPTER XI—The Indians capture Hayward after a struggle in which Hayward is wounded.

CHAPTER XII—Rene saves Hayward from death at the hands of the Indians and conceals him in the cellar of a cabin.

CHAPTER XIII—Hayward discovers a half breed negro in the cellar. They end in a fierce fight, which ends when the negro accidentally butts his brains out against the low roof of the cellar.

CHAPTER XIV—Rene's meddling around the cabin at night Hayward discovers a white man in a British uniform and leaves him for dead, after a desperate fight.

CHAPTER XV—Hayward meets his double, Joseph Hayward of the British army. The latter admits that he had held D'Avray a prisoner in the cabin, but that he knew nothing about his death. He objects to delivering D'Avray to help incite the Wyandots to war.

CHAPTER XVI—The British officer declares that D'Avray was murdered by a negro, on the charge of espionage.

CHAPTER XVII—Rene reports that Brady is a prisoner of the Indians and that he is to be killed at the stake. They plan to rescue the scout.

CHAPTER XVIII—Rene pleads with the chief for the life of the scout. Although she is highly respected among the Indians her efforts are without avail. The British officer is recognized by a renegade named Loppin, who demands his life of the chief.

CHAPTER XIX—The renegade kills the scout after a desperate fight.

CHAPTER XX—Brady is tied to a stake and the fire started. Hayward plunges into his face and hair and appears before the Indians who, thinking it the ghost of the dead man, flee in terror. Simon Girty appears and assists in rescuing Brady.

CHAPTER XXI—Girty reports that the Wyandots have joined the other tribes on the warpath. Brady and Hayward are sent prisoners by the Indians, but through Rene's influence are not harmed.

CHAPTER XXII—Brady and Hayward escape with the assistance of Rene.

CHAPTER XXIII—Hayward marries Rene, taking his own life rather than be a burden to them on their flight. Hayward reaches St. Clair, the American general, and warns him of the approach of the consolidated Indian tribes, but St. Clair is not impressed by the seriousness of the situation.

CHAPTER XXIV—Hayward participates in the battle on the Wabash in which St. Clair's forces are utterly routed.

CHAPTER XXV—Hayward starts with Rene for his home on the Ohio. They confess their love for each other.

They were coming, a dark mass bearing down upon us, but ahead of them, wild with terror, his harness flapping at his heels, his head flung from side to side, charged an artillery horse full tilt. In his mad terror he saw and knew nothing. He came straight at us, running as if crazed. I flung the girl into the side of the road and leaped recklessly for his head. My hand gripped the mane, then the leather rein; I was flung from my feet, jerked into the air, but hung; my moccasins touched ground again. I was dragged forward, rendered half unconscious by a blow, but weight told. I got fingers on his nostrils, and he stood still, panting and trembling. Clinging to him, warned by shouts to hurry, I stripped the harness and hoisted her onto the bare back. Even as this was accomplished the head of that shrieking mob was on us; one brute grabbed her by the arm seeking to pull her down, and I struck him with all the force I had. Then I ran forward, clasping the horse by the bit, crunching our way, heedless of who opposed or blocked our passage. And they made way for us; even in their blind terror, they swept aside to escape being trampled under the animal's hoofs, and left before us a clear path.

I looked eagerly for some place in which to turn aside, saw the faint trace of an Indian trail, seemingly leading down the bank of the stream and, with instant decision, turned into it. I walked the horse now, and Rene sat up straight, and fastened her disarranged hair. The narrow trail led through dense thickets and about a slight hill; in five minutes we were out of sight of the road, alone in the wilderness. To the right through trees was the glimmer of the river. The horse panted heavily, and the way was rough. There was blood I noticed now, on his flank, and he limped slightly as he walked. I staggered and reeled from weariness, feeling reaction from excitement, yet kept grimly on until we must have covered two miles, wandering in and out among the low hills. No sounds reached us, and as we came into a narrow ravine, promising concealment, I released my grasp on the bit and staggered back against the bank. Mademoiselle slipped from her seat and hastened to me.

"You are worn out, monsieur, wounded?"

"Worn out, yet, but nothing has touched me save a blow or two. I—I think we can rest now."

Then it occurred to me, a thought that had swept into my mind once before—we had no provisions, no chance to get away and we dare not shoot, nor build a fire.

"What is it, monsieur?"

"Why, we have nothing to eat, Rene," I admitted reluctantly. "It is a long journey to the Ohio, and how are we to keep from starving? Faith! but I am near that now."

She stood before me, slender, erect, the blanket draped about her, her eyes lowered.

"It was mine to remember, monsieur," she said simply, as if it was all the most ordinary thing in the world. "I knew not what would happen, and there was food there. When the women ran away, and I would not go, because you told me not, I knew it would be best that I take some. You do not blame me, monsieur?"

"Blame! you are a jewel; but I see nothing of it! Where—"

"'Tis here, monsieur; I am glad if I please you."

She lunged aside the blanket, dropping it to the ground, revealing a black ammunition bag strapped across her shoulder. I remembered now feeling it when I held her in my arms.

"I staggered and reeled from weariness," she said.

"Monsieur must eat," she said gravely, "and sleep. Then he will be strong again."

I tried to do as she said, munching a few mouthfuls. Her actions, her words, her manner toward me, both bewildered and angered. She had assumed the part of a servant—chosen it, as if she would thus touch me my own place. In every possible way she showed me she was not there from choice, but necessity. I lay back, tormented by the food, my appetite gone. The wounded horse had been down to the river and drunk; now he was pawing the snow in an effort to discover feed. Over in the east, but some distance off, a rifle cracked ominously in the silence. My head fell back against the bank, and I was sound asleep.

It was two days later when we toiled up a long hill, and came out upon the summit. I no longer needed to lead the horse, and was plodding along wearily behind. Much of the snow had melted, leaving the soil soft, and the trees appeared bare, phantom like, against the sky. Rene rode silently, wrapped in her blanket, for the air was chill and damp, her head bent, her eyes straight ahead. I have no remembrance that we had spoken for an hour. Beyond the hill summit there was an escarpment of rock, giving an open view ahead. As I gazed off, over the trees below, my heart gave a great bound—there, scarce a mile away, flowing between leagues of forest, was the broad Ohio, its waters silvery in the sun. I turned to her and pointed.

"At last, Rene," I cried, forgetting. "We are safe now; see! There is the river."

She lifted her eyes and looked.

"Yes, monsieur."

"Why do you ever speak to me in that tone? You answer me always as if you were my servant."

"Your servant!" She was looking at me now. "Am I not, monsieur?"

"Of course you are not. You are free; whatever put that in your head? I haven't known what to think, what to do since we have been together. Back on the Maumee I—I thought you loved me."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"I do love you, monsieur."

"You—you love me," I stammered. "And yet bear yourself as you do?"

"Yes, monsieur; how else could I do? You are white; I am an Indian."

"Is that all? You think that makes it different? Rene, I love you; out yonder is my home; I would take you there; I would say to those who know me—here is my wife."

"Your—your wife?" There was doubt, questioning in her eyes.

"Yes, of course; how could you think otherwise?"

"Oh, monsieur, how could I know? How could I believe? I was an Indian girl, a Wyandot. It is not so the white men come to our villages. I have seen them—the red-coats, the traders of France. They take with the strong hand, and then laugh, and go away. Then you came and grasped me, and said get into the canoe. I tried to not go, but you said yes, I must. You did not ask me, monsieur—you spoke stern, angry. I was frightened, I dare not say no, so I did as you said—I was your prisoner; you had taken me as the warriors of the Wyandots take the maidens of the Ojibwas."

"Then if that was so, why did you not leave me—that night the Indians passed us in camp?"

Her cheeks flamed.

"I—I could not, monsieur—I loved you."

"And now?—now you will go with me down there—a prisoner no longer, but my own?"

"Always and forever?"

"Always and forever," I answered gravely.

There was something new, wonderful in the depths of the dark eyes that looked into mine. I saw her hands clasp the white cross at her throat, then they were held out to me.

"I am so glad, monsieur," she said softly, "so glad!"
